Kensington Park School

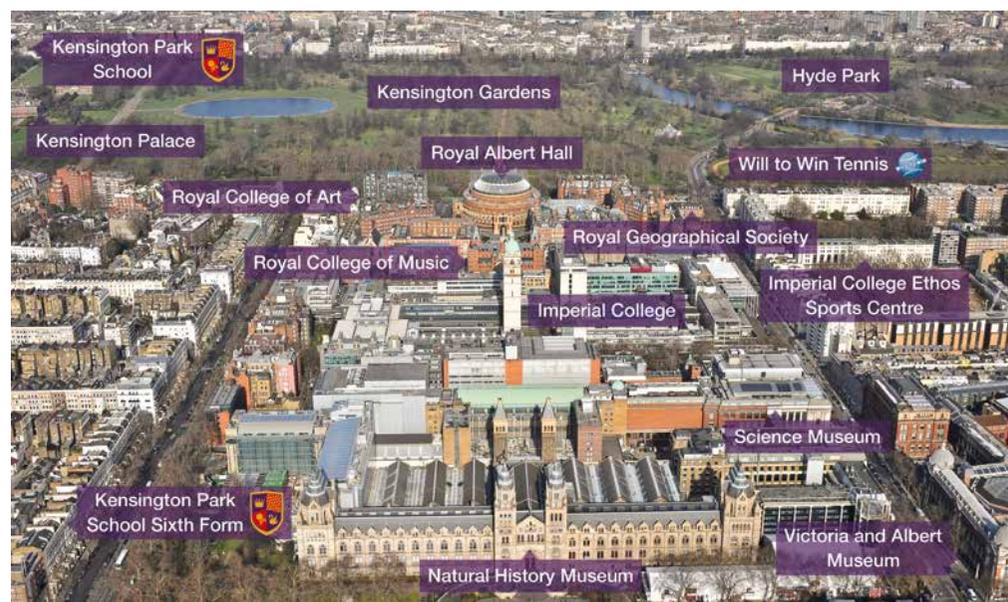

A new independent school has opened in the heart of London offering the highest quality education to boys and girls from 11 to 18. KPS operates from two buildings either side of Kensington Gardens:

- Pupils aged 11-16 will be taught in Bark Place on the north side of the park, from September 2018
- KPS Sixth Form, in Queen's Gate just south of the park, opened in September 2017 for pupils aged 16-18

Kensington Park School has attracted some high-profile teachers from the independent schools' sector: Paul Vanni, the current Deputy Head of St Paul's Girls' School, will join KPS as Head Master from Easter 2018. Other newly-appointed members of staff from St Paul's (boys) School include the former acting High Master, Senior Tutor, Undermasters and heads of department who are also teachers of maths, science and economics. Many of these distinguished staff have 25-year track records in helping their pupils achieve outstanding A Level results as well as giving professional advice on entry into the world's finest universities, including Oxbridge and the US Ivy League.

Will to Win Tennis

In a new and unique partnership with Will to Win Tennis, Kensington Park School provides the solution to supporting the academic needs of the next generation's rising young tennis stars.

Tennis scholarships are awarded on entry to Kensington Park School. These scholarships are both financial and practical, assisting the committed and talented pupil who will be spending significant amounts of time developing their competitive tennis career in addition to pursuing their academic studies. KPS explores ways to make the best use of time during the day to enable pupils to manage their busy training schedule.

Tennis coaching takes place in two outstanding Will to Win London locations, but primarily in the spectacular setting of Will to Win Hyde Park, where the seven floodlit tennis courts have distant iconic views of the Shard and the London Eye. The courts are a short walk from the school.
